

Healthy Air in Your Child Care Facility

The quality of the air we breathe affects the health and well-being of both children and adults. Poor air quality can also affect children's learning and behavior. To increase the quality of air at your facility, follow these three key guidelines:

